

Sample Tarot Reading via the Akashic Records

<DATE>

<Name>

What is the reason why XX keeps popping into my dream time? The energy pattern is always the same: that she is trying to manipulate my boyfriend with passiveness and emotions and every time she comes into my dreams I spend a lot of effort fighting my boyfriend to tell him not to listen to her or get very hurt during dream time.

This has gone on for more than a year now. What is going on?

You and what you are contributing to the relating here/now

Minor Arcana 2 of Rainbows Moment to Moment

Your emotions are flowing like a river. Never fixed and ever changing. Sometimes calm, sometimes loving, sometimes powerful, sometimes harsh. Nothing is ever certain. Despite that, you put up a front that you want others to see as you navigate across and above this river of emotions. Even then, it is precarious for you and your partner as every misstep can cause you both to go through a whole wave of emotions. If you stumble or fall; pick yourselves up, dust it off, have a good laugh and carry on. You do not laugh at yourselves enough!

The technique to navigate this river is to balance your emotions within, not just a front. You need to be at peace and know that you cannot control what comes your way. It is like nature. You can only be prepared and calm to triumph over the moment of trial. There is irony in that you fully experience the moment, but sometimes miss what you have with and around you. Acknowledging what you have will help a lot. You have foresight. You see far and have great plans and a vision for your future together. Move away from your preoccupation with things that have happened in another space and time and stay present and have your whole consciousness and reality to what is happening in the here and now.

The other, the other's input to the relating

Major Arcana The Master

You give XX too much power! Acknowledge that you are the Master, not her. You are wise beyond your years. Fear of losing to her has caused you to empower her even more. Learn to take back what you have given away. Only when you realize that she has no control will you experience blissfulness more precious than freedom. Be the Master you are.

The composite energies

Minor Arcana 10 of Clouds Rebirth

Your boyfriend and yourself are reborn in this relationship. It is never about what others think of you both. You have both ascended your previous ways of beings, broke through monotony, dullness and self-satisfaction to now be in a space of much more awareness. Never try to dominate or rebel against the other. Work together in harmony, playfulness and in spontaneity. There is much light in the relationship but darkness still lurks around. This darkness exists all around us, not only in your relationship. It is the darkness of not being able to communicate truthfully and honestly from a soul level. Ideally, in a world of no prejudice and judgement and full mutual understanding without the need for words, this darkness would not exist. At this stage of human evolution, most relationships are not able to accomplish this. This does not stop you both from striving for it and bringing your relationship to another level. Communicate. If you are able to once again be the Master of your destiny, knowing that this power is yours only, the relationship will be reborn once again with more light than ever before.

The insight

Minor Arcana 6 of Clouds The Burden

XX is being a burden in your relationship. She has made the relationship a struggle! She has weighed you down, lead you in a direction where you never want to be, made you feel silly, made the relationship so much rockier and made the journey a lot steeper than it should be. You have better things to do in your life than carry her on your shoulders. Your life will be a lot easier if you let her go from your mind and take over the helms. You have your own mountains to conquer, your own dreams to fulfill. You do not serve her.

Summary

Pain and hurt were hurt while entering into your records due to your self-inflicted thoughts. At the same time, a strong amount of love and energy came through from the Masters reminding you that you are loved. The only major arcana came up for the other party highlighting to you the importance of depowering her. The insight highlighted once more that the problems are coming from your mind. Be present to what you have and continue living and loving with the spontaneity of the child you are.

2

MOMENT TO MOMENT

THE MASTER

10

REBIRTH

6

THE BURDEN